

FOUR UPSETS IN FEATURE THIRD DAY'S RACING AT LAUREL

'OUTSIDERS' HAVE HEALTHY DAY AT MARYLAND TRACK

Four real upsets featured the third day of the annual fall meeting at Laurel Park, Md., yesterday. Three of them paid prices ranging from $11 to $25 for $2. The other, Jimmy Butwell's victory on The Archer over Clean Gane and Irish Kiss, while not nearly so healthy from a monetary standpoint, was nevertheless probably the most surprising result of the day.

A crowd closely approximating in size that of the opening day turned out to watch the running of the third day's racing at the popular Maryland track.

The Archer Wins Easily.

Butwell's victory on The Archer in the sixth event, a race of a mile and a quarter for 3-year-olds and upwards, was besides being unexpected, an extremely easy one. With a field of but three starters, Irish Kiss was figured as the "class," with Clean Gane as second choice in the money.

The running of the race, however, showed the wise gentlemen the "outsider" was the Archer. He started off to a flying start and was never headed. Throughout the long grind The Archer made the pace, never appearing to be in danger and won by a wide margin. Irish Kiss was second and Clean Gane took the show money mainly because there was no other starter. "Clean Gane" just about explains the way Clean Gane finished. A mile and a quarter appears a bit lengthy for this party.

The Avalon's Outside Wins.

"The Avalon," carded as the feature event of the day, provided the spot for the downfall of another hot favorite. This was a dash of six furlongs and was captured by the "outsider," The Roost, a rank outsider despite his good showing of the day before, in 1:12 2-5, but four-fifths of a second slower than the track record for this distance.

It was whispered around the paddock early in the afternoon that "Bull" Burtchell, Skink's trainer, "knew something." At any rate, of four horses entered under the Skink colors three—Trantula, Fort Bliss and Eddie Rickenbacker—were scratched, leaving Cock o' the Roost to carry the burden alone.

Carry it he did, and his price, $14.50, will tell you how successful he was. The steeplechase, always a popular event at Maryland tracks, brought out a fair field, of which LeMans appeared much the best. This jumper, trained by Billy Garth, had little trouble and came through handsily. Distant Shore figured largely in the machine, but was unable to do better than place. Lieut. Seas took the show money, with the rest of the field trailing.

In the opener, Fair Virginia and Attoe carried plenty of money, but both were forced to follow Mad Nell, a comparative outsider, to the wire. Fair Virginia grabbed the place money, with Attoe on the short end.

LAST BRITISH STARS IN WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT FALL

Alexa Stirling and Elaine Rosenthal Are Victors In Close Matches.

DEAL N. J., Oct. 6.—The national women's golf championship stays in America.

Alexa Stirling, of Atlanta, present title holder, vanquished Mrs. Latham Hall, of England, today, while Elaine Rosenthal, of Chicago, was eliminating the only remaining invader, Edith Leitch, sister of the famous Cecil.

Miss Stirling had her hands full. The match went to the final green looked doubtful for the hopes of the Atlanta wonder's followers. But one up at the last hole, a beautiful shot gave her the half, and the match ended with England's last still alive.

Miss Stirling put up a pretty fight. The first hole was halved after the Atlanta girl was trapped and Mrs. Hall had made a costly second shot. On the second green the Englishwoman sunk a 30-foot putt for a birdie three, winning the hole. Miss Stirling was two down on the third, where she overran her approach putt ten feet and missed coming back. The fourth was halved in par three, and Miss Stirling won back a hole on the fifth with a wonderful iron shot to the green following a tee shot fully thirty yards ahead of Mrs. Hall's.

The American girl squared the match at the sixth by sinking a 10-foot putt, but she lost the seventh when another 10-foot putt hovered on the edge of the cup.

Mrs. Hall got into a bunker on the eighth, and the match was squared again when Miss Stirling went onto the green in two super shots and down in two putts. Both ran into traps on the ninth, but the English player made a splendid recovery and was one up at the turn. The tenth was halved in 7 when each missed a fairly long putt. Miss Stirling once more evened the match on the eleventh by placing her iron second on the green and roving down in 3 putts, while her rival was short on the first 2 strokes. The next was halved with 5s, and the champion became 1 up for the first time in the match on the thirteenth. Both players were trapped here, but Miss Stirling made a fine recovery. Miss Stirling took the fourteenth, but lost the fifteenth. The sixteenth and seventeenth were halved, and the American was still 1 up as they drove from the final tee. Mrs. Hall was
